What is RemoteFIT?

RemoteFIT is a research-based assessment tool to help leaders and hiring managers objectively evaluate current or potential employee aptitude for remote work.

How does it work?

First, an assessment component measures dimensions of personality that are proven to be predictors of success in remote work environments.

Next, a RemoteFIT organizational psychologist analyzes the results and compiles a personalized report of the likelihood of remote work success at the individual and/or aggregate (workforce) level.

If using RemoteFIT Workforce, a report provides you with detailed analysis for addressing overall impediments to productive remote work within your organization.

What is my investment?

RemoteFIT is offered as individual assessments for selection purposes and can be purchased as single or volume units. Unit cost breaks are available.

RemoteFIT Individual
of Assessments	Unit Cost-Per Assessment
Up to 49	$176.00
50-99	$170.00
100+	$167.00

RemoteFIT Workforce is available to assess all employees at one time, so that you can see if your workforce is ready for remote work -OR- address remote productivity issues with an already remote workforce.

Inquire with us about how your unique needs can be met through RemoteFIT Workforce, and we can provide you with project-based pricing to fit your scope of work and needs.

Research shows personality traits related to effective performance for Remote Workers include Reasoning, Self-Sufficiency, Conscientiousness, Solution-Oriented, and Concern for Others. This report indicates whether an individual scored Low, Medium, or High for each trait in the assessment.

REASONING

Low                      Moderate                      High

SELF-SUFFICIENCY

Low                      Moderate                      High

CONSCIENTIOUSNESS

Low                      Moderate                      High

SOLUTION-ORIENTATION

Low                      Moderate                      High

CONCERN FOR OTHERS

Low                      Moderate                      High

These results have been evaluated by an organizational psychologist, and an evaluation of Remote Work FITness is indicated below. An individual with High Remote Work FITness is more likely to find long-term job satisfaction and have effective performance as a Remote Worker.

Note: This report should not be used as the sole factor in selection decisions. Other factors related to the candidate's likelihood of success (e.g. technical ability, experience, references, interviews, etc.) should be considered.
